The Federal Laboratory Consortium for Technology Transfer (FLC) and the National Association of Seed and Venture Funds

Seed investors and corporate licensing partners will have a unique opportunity to gather information on 50 technologies with global commercialization potential at the World's Best Technologies 2002 (WBT02) exhibition Sept. 24-26, 2002, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The WBT02 is a showcase for the most promising technologies developed at federal labs, leading universities, and young high tech companies.

A seasoned panel of investors and commercialization experts will select the exhibiting technologies based on those having the greatest potential for high-growth commercial enterprises. The top 15 exhibitors will make summary presentations describing their technologies and the magnitude of the market opportunity.

The event will serve technology seed investors, commercialization specialists, technology entrepreneurs, and corporations seeking advanced concepts on which to build explosive new ventures. Space is limited, so early registration is recommended.

The WBT02 is being hosted by the Federal Laboratory Consortium for Technology Transfer (FLC), a group of more than 700 federal research centers and laboratories, and the National Association of Seed and Venture Funds (NASVF), a national organization that concerned with building access to capital for entrepreneurs.
